From Brill - Nijhoff : Federalism as Decision-Making: Changes in Structures, Procedures and Policies (Studies in Territorial and Cultural Diversity Governance) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Federalism as Decision-Making: Changes in Structures, Procedures and Policies (Studies in Territorial and Cultural Diversity Governance):

Accounting for participation, separation of powers and democratic accountability, federalism gains momentum in times when traditional democratic legitimacy of institutional decision-making is challenged. Its ability to include multiple interests makes federalism a means to ensure good governance. Based on a multidisciplinary analysis, the book tackles the question of whether federalism as a pragmatic governance tool provides answers to current challenges and what those answers are. Thirty-three leading experts critically examine to what extent federalism serves this purpose in compound states, looking at different countries and policies. The volume revolves around five sub-themes: 'federalism, democracy and governance', 'participation mechanisms and procedures', 'policy areas compared',

'institutional innovation and participatory democracy' and 'federalism: from theory to governance'.
