We get so busy in our lives that we tend to forget that we are sowing seeds everyday and will reap a harvest. Moody is very clear; you reap after the kind you sowed, good or bad. We take for granted that God is not mocked. We believe that harvest will not come because it sometimes take a long time. We assume God has let us get away. Remember. Seed-- time--!harvest. This book is eye opener. I plan to read it once a month. I highly recommend it to everyone, Christian and non-Christian. The law of sowing and reaping does not discriminate. I will be more thoughtful of my words and action as a result of reading this book. Please invest,(seed) you will reap a (harvest).0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Life Changing!By Dahlia Ann Howard -LewisThis book has brought me to the realization that my actions, intentional or not has repercussions. There is joy in knowing that it applies to good actions as it does for bad. It has reinforced my desire to spend eternity with the Lord. I dare not turn back! I am challenged to live each day as a testimony of the Saving grace of Jesus.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Sowing and Reaping...a lesson in living for the LordBy Dorothy ZwirnA sobering look into how our actions affect not only ourselves, but other people as well - spiritually, physically, and emotionally. We are going to reap consequences even when we have been forgiven. This is a great read to begin the new year, with a timeless lesson in intentional living for the Lord. It will change the way you approach your relationship with God and how you live your life.
