What I most liked about the book is that Hacking is really straight ...By Gabriel SilvaMan, I wish I have read this book on my freshman year of college!What I most liked about the book is that Hacking is really straight forward. He explains how it works and what would be the most efficient path to follow to stay here. And all based on examples of his clients that succeed doing what Hacking calls the "10 key steps to follow to better your chances of staying in the U.S" I would recommend all the International Students to read this book! Specially if you just got in the United States and have plans on staying here..Straight forward, easy reading, great content!

Most international students think that if they work hard in school, the job offers will roll in. Good grades are merely the first step in a long journey towards getting a visa and staying here. Discover how you can map out your future, find a job that you love and stay in the U.S. for good.

About the Author Jim Hacking has practiced law in the greater St. Louis area since 1997. For the past seven years, Jim's practice has been devoted almost exclusively to immigration law. Jim handles spouse employment visas, citizenship, asylum and deportation cases. Jim applies his litigation skills to his immigration practice, successfully litigating numerous cases involving naturalization and green card delays. Jim has been active in local civic affairs. He has been a volunteer attorney through Legal Services of Eastern Missouri since he started practicing law. Jim was a founding member of the St. Louis Chapter of the Council on American-Islamic Relations and served as the group's executive director for two years. He has served on the U.S. Attorneys Hate Crimes Task Force and currently chairs the Muslim Task Force of the ACLU of Eastern Missouri. In 2009, he received the Eugene H. Buder Award from the ACLU of Eastern Missouri as volunteer of the year. In 2009, Jim was elected to the inaugural board of Missouri Immigrants Refugee Advocates, an organization dedicated to fighting for the rights of immigrants and refugees. In 2010, Legal Services of Eastern Missouri awarded Jim the F. Wm. McCalpin Pro Bono Award for his efforts advocating for low income individuals in the St. Louis area. Jim has also taught as an adjunct professor at the SLU Law School. In 2004, the Riverfront Times named Jim the Best Lawyer in St. Louis. Jim graduated with honors from Saint Louis University School of Law, where he served as Editor in Chief of the Saint Louis University Law Journal. His article Wont You Be My Neighbor Does New Jerseys Megans Law Violate The Constitution Ban On The Passage Of Ex Post Facto Legislation? appeared in the 41st Edition of the Law Journal. Jim has been featured in The New York Times, the Washington Post and on National Public Radio. He has been interviewed repeatedly on local television, radio and print outlets. He lives in Webster Groves, Missouri, with his wife, three sons and daughter.
